he was on a Pennsylvania avenue street car and the conductor told Policeman Glover that he had the pistol. The policeman arrested Cole. When he appeared before Judge Miller this morning he plead guilty to the charge and said that the pistol belonged to his brother.
"How did you happen to have it?" inquired

"Oi," he responded, "I jis' had it in my pocket. I picked it up in the house." "What were you going to do with the weapon?"
"Nothin' at all; 'twas my brother's."

In consideration of the condition of the pistol though it might belong to a Benning sport the court imposed a fine of only $20 or sixty who was engaged in welling "make your best."

Policemen Kendall and Marshall gave evidence in the case. They said they went in the dining room about 12:15 o'clock Sunday morning a week ago and remained there until nearly 1 o'clock. They had two bottles of beer each and a cigar. When they went there they were in citizens' clothes.

THE MONEY QUESTION.

MORE OF THE "NEEDFUL" WANTED FOR THE COUNTRY-WHAT THE ALLIANCE WILL DO WHEN IT GETS POSSESSION OF THE WHITE HOUSE TWO YEARS HENCE-LESSON OF A SILVER DOLLAR.

With his left hand principally engaged aressing his abnormally long beard and his right pointing in the direction of a large giltramed oil painting of the late Mr. Sitting Bull, Senator Peffer of the state of Kansas delivered himself of his second speech within the limits of the District of Columbia. It happened last night at the regular meeting of the True Commonwealth Club. The meeting was held at the esidence of Dr. T. A. Bland, 1121 10th street, and fully seventy people assembled previous to 8 o'clock for the purpose of hearing those arguments which the Senator from Kansas might advance in favor of the methods and propositions of the Farmers' Alliance.

Ex-Representative A. J. Warner followed the

GEN. WARNER ON SILVER.

Suddenly Mr. Peffer stopped speaking, and wanted them answered because they were reasoning from widely separated premises, the general's questions being based upon the present monetary system, which made money the standard of value as well as the medium of exchange. His own system eliminated from money not only the element of intrinsic value, but the power to limit or control the value of things of use. things of use.

Prof. Henry C. Adams of Michigan University and quite a number of other prominent thinkers were prevented from speaking by the lateness of the hour. The club and its friends were invited by leading members of the Nationalist Club who were present to continue the discussion of this question on Thursday evening next in Nationalist Hall, 609 F street. From the time when the Senator was awarded the floor it was evident that stage fright and Mr. Peffer had long been strangers. A few com-operation the value of things will be governed by their utility and intrinsic worth and not by the money volume. A radical change of na-tional finance. Now the volume of money de-termined the price of all commodities and the value of all debta; hence the moneyed class by the manipulation of money, could inflate or contract prices at will. This was unjust to the producing class.

HE AND WARNER DIFFER.

In response to a question by Gen. Warner, Senator Peffer said he could not answer some of the former's questions, as he (Gen. Warner)

An Enthusiastic Meeting in the Gymr

of the Association. The Y. M. C. A. held an enthusiastic athletic meeting in the gymnasium of the association building, on New York avenue, last night. which resulted in advancing the spirit of exercise and sport among the members to an encouraging degree. Secretary Howard Perry of the C. A. C. made an interesting speech, in which he showed the healthy growth of amateur athletics throughout the country. A fortnight ago, he said, he had been given a great deal of pleasure by aiding in making the Y. M. C. A. a member of the Amateur Athletic Union, with an aggregate membership of over 50,000, an aggregate membership of over 50,000, He pointed out the fact that the successful growth of an athletic club cost money, and that care is required to build up such an organization, referring to the establisment and development of the C. A. C. as an instance of the progress of athletics in this vicinity under Senator Peffer then turned his attention to the financial policy of the Treasury Department, which, he said, was one of practical philanthropy. He read from a newspaper clip-ping how the late Secretary of the Treasury had conferred with Wall street whenever money had conferred with Wall street whenever money became tight. The practice had been in oper-ation for many years, but it was inequitable. That method of pendering public finances had successful auspices. He encouraged the new club to go ahead and to establish itself firmly on the new grounds and to make itself a worthy rival of the Columbias. That method of pendering public finances had brought demoralization. It was wrong to go to New York to relieve the stringency of the money market; it was wrong to auticipate pay-

VALUE OF HEALTH AND STRENGTH. Ex-president of the association Warner called attention to the value to the community ments on bonds; it was wrong to purchase the people's indebtedness at a premium. The whole system was wrong. In Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa the people were actually famishing for money, yet when the people asked for money public men turned their backs on them and said the people didn't know what they were asking for. The eastern capitalist asks for money and the government gives it to him. money and the government gives it to him. strong, well-muscled man. He hoped athletics would be made a prominent feature of the association from now on.

Prof. Simms, the athletic director of the sociation, drew a contrast between ancient and inger at the uniformly ruddy countenance of modern sport and athletics and showed how Mr. S. Bull, "but they have done nothing. We much easier and healthier and better it is to

Mr. S. Bull, "but they have done nothing. We now propose to act for ourselves." Then the Kansan paused to give an anarchistic-looking gentleman opportunity to relieve his pent-up soul by a burst of applause.

Adam Smith's simile was used—money compared to vehicles on the public highway. Mr. Peffer said the comparison was good, because the function of money was to serve a public use. Wagons bore corn and wheat and cotton and potatoes to the cities and returned the next day with other loads. As those vehicles were so was money on the highway of trade.

Mr. W. E. Woodruff, a member of the board of managers, gave a bird's-eye view of the new park at 17th and U streets and showed what a chance there is now offered for excellent work. A bright speech from Mr. T. A. Harding, formerly the secretary of the association, concluded this part of the exercises and a subscription paper was circulated, with the result of obtaining pledges of quite a number of sums of all sizes for the support of the new park.

ods of the money lender. In his town there was a very extensive money-lending establishment, so his opportunities had been good. The working expenses of that company amounted to less than $20,000, and as the business aggregated $2,000,000 annually the expenses were but 1 per cent of the amount loaned. Why, then, should people be compelled to pay from 10 to 18 per cent for long time loans and from 12 to 70 per cent on short time loans? If a private firm could cover its expenses with 1 per cent of its business the government loaned money at 1 per cent the extra percentage money at 1 per cent the extra percentage would be saved to the people. There was noth-ing revolutionary, nothing dishonest in the of $1. This sum or so much thereof as was necessary he would loan out, 10 per cent of each loan to be paid each year, 9 per cent to be applied to the extinction of the principal indebtedness and 1 per cent covering the interest. In that way he believed it possible to redeem every mortgaged home in the land within a period of fifteen years. He wanted the money-issuing power taken away from national banks and he thought those institutions should be converted into government agencies. If the banks would not do the business the people would. Senator Peffer concluded his speech with the twice repeated statement, "The function of money is to entire the printers have themselves added nearly $40,000 to this nest-egg, and large additions to the fund are expected when the institution is announced as ready to perform its beneficent mission. Mr. James Neill is not Bob Hilliard, yet he gave a satisfactory interpretation of the title role. Miss Etelks Wardell, though laboring under a cold, completely captivated the audience by her intelligent, graceful and forceful impersonation of Marina Paoli, the Corsican maiden. Miss Annie Blancke was a bright and attractive Maud, and Miss Effie Germon as Lady Chartris, though she had but little to do, was the experienced actress in every respect. Miss Emma Field's Enid Anstruther was quite effective, and her experience on the Lyons mail train was, as usual, exciting and interesting. The other characters in the cast were well taken, and the scenic effects were able aids in making the play as realistic as those who have read the book wish it to be. The performance is as enjoyable as the book and the interest in it is unflagging. Again tonight.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Long years ago Lydia

Thompson was a dazzle-er, nor time nor eternity do not seem to razzle her, for last night at the Academy of Music, where she prenight at the Academy of Music, where she presented for the first time in Washington her play, "The Dazzler," she was as young and handsome and vivacious as in the palmy days when she was the queen of the burlesque stage, as she is now its empress dowager. The night was not one to tempt people from their comfortable homes, but enough came out to comfortably fill the house, and it goes without saying that nobody regretted having come. "The Dazzler" is of that class of plays which Miss Thompson introduced into this country, and it is loaded to the muzzle with catchy things of every variety in the song-and-dance line, with is loaded to the muzzle with catchy things of every variety in the song-and-dance line, with the addition of scenery, girls, fine costumes and laughs galore. Miss Thompson's imitation of Carmencita is a feature of particular merit, and the American can almost give the Spaniard points. The burlesquers as an entirety are good people, and they make "The Dazzler" a dazzler indeed. The play also introduces semi-formally the hall in its new name of Academy of Music, under the management of Mr. W. H. Rapley.

Mme. Clara Neuman's serial dancing is novel and beautiful. The comedy element is not so astenishingly powerful as to excite our special wonder, going too often into equine divertissement, as they say in the educated circles of Chicago. A rattling good bit of funny business, however, is Miss Fannie Daboll's Angostara, a role not one woman in a thousand could do as effectively as she does. Mr. Norman, Mr. Foy, Mr. Frankau, Miss Ida Mulle, Miss Topsy Venn, Miss Louise Montague and Miss Dacre were all in fine feather. Are the best months in which to purify your blood,
During the long, cold winter, the blood becomes thin and impure, the body becomes weak and tired, the appetite may be lost, and just now the system craves
the sid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

MARCH APRIL MAY

hold its regatta in this city in Angust next.

The last national regatta was held here some ten years ago, but the gloom which hung over the city at the time on account of the illness of President Garfield naturally took away from the interest and enthusiasm which should surround so big an event. The clubs of this city are now determined in the event of the acceptance of the invitation, and they have every reason to hope that it will be accepted, to make the national regatta this year the largest and most successful event in the history of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen. Much will depend, however, on the assistance of the lovers of the sport and the business men of the city in the way of subscriptions, prizes and other incidental expenses, and the people of this city have never yet failed to assist in making a local affair the success it should be.

The clubs themselves will be under heavy expense for trainers, boats and incidental cost of entertaining visiting oarsmen. From the present outbook the subscriptions to the general fand by business mea and other citizens promise to be liberal, and there is every reason why they should be, as in the event of the regattations to the city, many of whom will for the first time be made aware of the attractions of the national capital.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted to the needs of the body during these months. It thoroughly purines and vitalizes the blood, creates a good appetite, whele whe lood, creates a good appetite, whele whele yet he blood, creates a good appetite, whele whele yet he lood, creates a good appetite, whele whele yet he lood, creates a good appetite, whele whele yet he lood, creates a good appetite, whele whele yet he head with the whele yet he head they have every reason to the kidneys and liver and imparts strength of the kidneys and liver and imparts at good appetite, whele whele you should sive Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial. It really is a wonderful blood purifier, and building up medicine.

The clubs themselves will be grange, but true. It will encourage thousands of hope-less sufferers who have tried and found wanting both physicians and medicines, to make one more effort to rid themselves of those terrible afflictions. CUTI-CURA is the only positive cure.

THE STAR WARRS ALEXANDRIA.

litorial of THE STAR last evening Before Judge Miller this morning Andrew ing the bright prospect before Alexandria if her citizens would seize the opportunity produced immediate effect. Last night a citizens' meet-Price, an old white man, was arraigned on a charge of vagrancy and plead guilty. Andrew walked into the ninth precinct station last evening was convened by the board of trade at the trade rooms. Mr. M. W. Harlow presided and Mr. Wm. M. Reardon was secretary. The Stan's editorial was read and received with applause, and three suggestions made by President F. A. Reese and the trade directors, in favor of improved streets accurate and the secretary and no home. Judge Miller gave him all the home he could and that was on the farm. Three months was the longest period the court could Reese and the trade directors, in favor of improved streets, a sewerage system and a compine of capital to promote small industrial enterprises, were all agreed to. Messrs. George Wise, E. S. Leadbeater and G. W. Ramsay were appointed a committee on streets. Mayor Downham and Messrs. Charles King and Park Agnew a committee on sewers and Messrs. J. T. Burke, G. W. Fisher, R. H. Tucker, Henry Strauss and M. W. Harlow a committee on combined capital. In order to strike while the iron is hot, another committee, Messrs. Helmuth, Wise, Zimmerman and Reed, were named to wait on the city council tonight Frank Weange, arraigned on a similar charge, entered a similar plea and was given Lucy Robinson, a colored woman who lives in South Washington from pillar to post, denied that she was a female tramp, although the nied that she was a female tramp, although the officers gave her that reputation. When found on Maryland avenue last night she was so drunk that the officer had to take her to the station in a wheelbarrow. Lucy will not be given another wheelbarrow ride for sixty days.

Julia Newman, a young white, woman who lives in the disreputable part of the city, was tried on Policeman Ceinar's complaint and Lawyer Carrington plead her case. She was released on her own fecognizance.

Josephine Simpson, colored, who, although young in years, is beyond redemption, was up as a "vag." She was released from the farm only a couple of days ago and the judge, knowing how bad she was, sent her back for three months. muth, Wise, Zimmerman and Reed, were named to wait on the city council tonight and urge such action as shall supersede the city surveyor and the superintendent of police by a first-class engineer in order to initiate the plans for street and sewer improvement, and this committee will push the matter before the city council to night. So this suggestion of TRE STAR fell into well prepared ground and produced good fruit at once.

produced good fruit at once. THE ALEXANDRIA PERBY TO MARYLAND. The board of trade last night appointed Messrs. E. S. Leadbeater, J. R. Zimmerm and John J. Jamieson a committee to take into working man and Officer Espey said that he spends most of his time about Limerick alley. "I was going to work this week," said the consideration the condition of the Alexandria ferry to Maryland. It was suggested that the ferry run not to Fox's, the old place, but up Broad creek, where it was said a much larger section of country would become available an better roadways reached. It was stated in thi "and when you want to go to work you can get connection that next summer one of the Alex-andria and Washington ferry boats would con-nect Washington and Alexandria with the Notley Hall pleasure resert, opposite this city, and in this way there will be a ferry during the Harrison English was tried for begging on Pennsylvania avenue and was given ninety
